Christopher

I see everything. Most other people are lazy. They never look at everything. They do what is called glancing, which is the same word for bumping off something and carrying on in almost the same direction. And the information in their head is really simple...

But if I am sitting looking out of the window of a train into the countryside I notice everything. Like...

As he talks he raps out a nervous rhythm with his hand.

1. There are nineteen cows in the field. Fifteen of which are black and white and four of which are brown and white
2. There is a village in the distance, which has 31 visible houses
3. There are ridges in the field
4. There is a plastic bag from Asda
5. There is Coca Cola
6. There is the snail
